Hawai`i Legislators and NextEra

By Henry Curtis

State Senator Donovan Dela Cruz is Vice President of NextEra Energy consultant DTL Hawai`i.

Ian Lind reported on September 15, “Dela Cruz filed his 2015 annual financial disclosure at the end of January. It reported no changes in employment from 2014, when he had reported earning $25,000 to $50,000 as “director of communications” for WCIT Architecture. ...It appears that DTL is essentially a subsidiary or sister company of WCIT.”

Life of the Land asked NextEra to identify their staff and consultants. NextEra replied, but the reply was confidential, meaning the public can't know.

NextEra did supply to Life of the Land an 84-page non-confidential report by DTL.
